How To Get Involved In The Wicca Community

Wicca is the fastest growing religion in the USA and maybe in several other parts of the world. However, the old evil tales and images about witchcraft and the ignorance of the masses about what exactly Wicca stands for, impede its growth considerably.

Mankind has always felt better when they knock down another culture to make themselves look taller, larger and for "obvious reasons" better. As a result, people manage to put down anything and everything they don't understand.

Ignorant people are also not known to suddenly realize that they are wrong and obviously need to open their minds to gain awareness.

Many countries have issues with different religions, customs and dogmas. Religious persecution is not new to the world. Most of the established religions have save havens in many countries. Even though Wicca is getting more popular, it has not yet established a safe haven in any country. People who follow Wicca religion still have to worry about ignorant neighbors or corrupt regimes suddenly turning against them.

If you want to get into the Wicca community, there are several ways to do it:

Go to the local occult shops or spiritual conferences. You may find many people who are into Wicca. In the USA, it is okay to ask around for local covens or groups that can get together and practice together.

Go to <http://www.witchvox.net>. Join a group and search for a coven in your area. Find people around in your area who work together for the cause of Wicca. Join them.

Learn more about Wicca and when you hear people speak ill of any religion, try to make them understand that Wicca is a peaceful religion and that most religions are not the problem; it is the people who think they can hurt another for whatever reason that is the problem on this Earth.

There are many yahoo groups that are devoted to raising awareness of Wicca. Go to <http://groups.yahoo.com/search?query=wicca> and look at the number of groups such as BeginningWicca, abrawicca, wiccanplace, EarthwiseBOS, _wicca, allwitchcrafts, amberandjet, AraNews, celtic-cauldron and any of the remaining 12219 groups that have some connection to Wicca. If you increase your search parameters to include your city, town or state, you may find yahoogroups devoted to just your part of the country. Join the community and see how you can help.

If you do not want to join Wicca, you can be a friend of the community. Unless we humans hold our hands together and say "No more persecution of any religion", history may repeat itself. Whether it's the Spanish Inquisition or the "Dark Ages" or the recent Hitler Era, it is so easy for history to repeat the dark episodes of its past. Regardless of race, color, gender, country or religion we have to hold our hands tight and refuse to allow one person to hurt another in the name of religion.

Awareness of who we are and why this Universe binds us together regardless of our belief systems is what will help save the world from destruction.
